DETAILED ACTION

Faxing of Responses to Office Actions

In order to reduce pendency and avoid potential delays, TC 3700 is encouraging FAXing of responses to Office Actions directly into the Group at (703)872-9306. This practice may be used for filing papers which require a fee by applicants who authorize charges to a PTO deposit account. Please identify the examiner and art unit at the top of your cover sheet. Papers submitted via FAX into TC 3700 will be promptly forwarded to the examiner.

1. Claims 1-3, 6 and 7 have been amended for further examination.

Terminal Disclaimer

2. The terminal disclaimer filed on September 17, 2004 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of

Art Unit:

Application 09/534,433 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-7 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
4. In Claim 1, it is not understood what is meant by “a second indicia not capable of being scanned which is not visible under normal viewing conditions...” Applicant may want to state “a second indicia not capable of being scanned and further not visible under normal viewing conditions”.

Art Unit:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1, 2, 4 and 7, are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morelle et al in view of Ottawa Citizen.

Morelle discloses in Fig. 1A-2C, a document (M, having some intrinsic value such as a stamps or sheet of stamps, as stated in Col. 2, lines 45-50) comprising a visible first indicia (20 as see in Fig. 2B) identifying document, a second indicia (as seen in Fig. 2C, wherein the indicia is in the shape of a star) that cannot be scanned and is not visible under normal viewing conditions (As seen in Fig. 2A-2C, and in Col. 5, lines 55-68 and Col. 6, lines 20-33).

However, Morelle et al does not disclose a stamp comprising: first indicia identifying stamp as limited edition and one out of a predetermined amount; a third indicia for identifying a printer or location where stamp was printed, wherein the third indicia is not visible to the eye under normal viewing conditions, is not capable of being scanned.

Ottawa Citizen discloses in lines 2, 3 and 24-28, a limited edition postal stamp comprising indicia to show that the stamp or sheet of stamps is one out of a predetermined number (1,000).

Art Unit:

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Morelle et al's document to be in the form of a stamp comprising indicia as taught by Ottawa Citizen for the purpose of providing a limited edition postal stamp.

In regards to Claim 1 and 7, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to place any desirable indicia on the document substrate, since it would only depend on the intended use of the assembly and the desired information to be displayed. Further, it has been held that when the claimed printed matter is not functionally related to the substrate it will not distinguish the invention from the prior art in terms of patentability. The fact that the content of the printed matter placed on the document substrate may render the device unique by providing an individual with a specific type of article does not alter the functional relationship. Mere support by the substrate for the printed matter (indicia) is not the kind of functional relationship necessary for patentability. Therefore, it would have been obvious to place any indicia on the document, since applicant has not disclosed that only using stamp indicia is critical to the invention, and invention would function equally as well if it had any type of indicia on a substrate which needs to be authenticated such as art or a photograph and autograph display.

In regard to Claims 1, 4 and 7, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include as many types of indicia having the same characteristics as those of a preceding indicia (second indicia) as desired, since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to place any number of indicia on the stamp substrate, since applicant has not disclosed the criticality of having a particular number, that such a modification would produce no new or unexpected results for patentability, and the invention would operate would operate equally as well with any number of indicia.

In regards to Claims 1, 5 and 7, wherein the second and third indicia is not capable of being scanned; and wherein the third indicia is used for identifying a printer or printing location, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. Therefore, the indicia (second) of the Morelle et al reference is capable used for printer identification or printing location.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 3 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit:

Prior Art References

The prior art references listed in the attached PTO-892, but not used in a rejection of the claims, are cited for (their/its) structure. Kovanen, Mowry, Wicker, and Wicker ('853) discloses similar documents.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Morelle et al is now relied upon for disclosing a document having indicia which can not be scanned and is invisible under normal viewing conditions.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit:

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
